Faculty Opening
Tenure-Track Assistant or Associate Professor in International Development

Founded in 1943 and a Johns Hopkins division since 1950, The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies of the Johns Hopkins University (SAIS) has been educating global leaders for more than 70 years. As a highly selective graduate institution with a distinguished faculty, SAIS consistently ranks as one of the top schools of international relations in the world. SAIS was founded to provide a practical approach to training students in international leadership and foreign relations, and to provide mid-career educational opportunities for those already working in related fields. Today, SAIS offers the MA, MIPP, MAIA, MAIS, MIEF, GPP, and Ph.D. degrees and enrolls 640 full-time students in Washington, D.C., primarily in the school's two-year Master of Arts program. Nearly 40 percent of the students are non-citizens coming from more than 70 countries. About 200 students attend SAIS Europe in Bologna, Italy, while about 180 students attend the Hopkins-Nanjing Center in Nanjing, China. To learn more about SAIS, visit www.sais-jhu.edu.

The Position
SAIS is seeking to fill a Full-Time Tenure-Track Assistant or Associate Professor in International Development. The position is open with regard to discipline and region: we encourage candidates with backgrounds in anthropology, political science, urban studies, and public policy to apply. Field research and teaching interests in inclusive development finance, urban development, and governance are of particular interest.

Qualifications
Preference will be given to candidates who combine the promise of outstanding academic research and excellence in teaching, with regional expertise and a proven interest in policy relevant analysis. The appointment will start effectively on July 1, 2015. A Ph.D. awarded by June 2015 will be a condition for employment.

Application
An application letter, curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation should be submitted electronically to: SAISIDEVProfSearch@jhu.edu; addressed to Professor Deborah Bräutigam, International Development Search Committee, School of Advanced International Studies, The Johns Hopkins University, 1740 Massachusetts Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20036.

We will begin reviewing applications on November 1, 2014 and will continue to accept applications until the position is filled.
