SAIS: Talent for the World

It is my privilege to share with you the career outcomes of the graduating class of 2012 from The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS) of The Johns Hopkins University, one of the nation’s leading graduate schools devoted to the study of international relations. SAIS is renowned for its emphasis on international economics, regional and functional studies, and foreign languages, making our graduates valued commodities in the public, private and nonprofit sectors.

2012 was a year in which many countries and regions faced significant challenges on the global stage. From the fiscal crisis in Europe to ongoing conflicts in the Middle East, SAIS graduates have been involved and have contributed in significant ways whether the issues involved global economics, refugee relief efforts, or exploring ways to develop renewable energy resources. The class of 2012 went on to find employment in over 150 organizations world-wide, once again making SAIS an important source of global talent.

This report spotlights the success of our graduates and reflects the dedication of the Career Services team to both help students manage their careers and provide employers the opportunity to recruit from among top candidates for internships and entry-level positions. Thanks to our growing close connection with SAIS alumni we are also able to source talent for mid- and senior-level openings as well.

Thank you to all the employers who recruited from SAIS during the past year and to all of our alumni who helped SAIS students with their job search, lending them important advice and support. We look forward to strengthening our relationship with you in the year ahead and continuing to provide SAIS talent for a changing world.

Sincerely,
Ronald T. Lambert
Director, Career Services
The SAIS Significance

A Preeminent Graduate School
SAIS was founded in 1943 and became a division of The Johns Hopkins University in 1950. For more than seven decades, SAIS has been educating global leaders. As a highly selective graduate institution with a world-class faculty, SAIS consistently ranks as one of the top schools of international relations in the world.

Global Campuses
SAIS is an international institution, with campuses in Washington, D.C., Bologna, Italy, and Nanjing, China, that draws students from throughout the world. Unique among its peers, SAIS provides the opportunity for students to take advantage of a global perspective during their graduate experience.

A Distinctive Curriculum
At SAIS, students specialize in either a region of the world or a functional area of international relations, while also concentrating on graduate study in economics and one of 15 languages. This approach, combined with the ability to study at overseas locations, gives students the framework and skills for analyzing and solving complex international issues.

Professional Development Skills Courses
In addition to academic and language courses, SAIS students are offered non-credit professional skills courses in subjects such as accounting, finance, corporate valuation, financial modeling, public speaking, business writing, leadership, consulting skills, negotiations, effective briefings, Excel and STATA. These courses complement students’ academic experience at SAIS and are designed to help them master the practical skills needed to succeed in the workforce.

Dual-Degree Programs
SAIS offers dual-degree options in partnership with other top graduate schools:

- M.A. – M.B.A. with the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania
- M.A. – M.B.A. with INSEAD
- M.A. – M.B.A. with the Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth College
- M.A. – J.D. with the Stanford University Law School
- M.A. – J.D. with the University of Virginia School of Law
- M.A. – M.S.P.H. with JHU’s Bloomberg School of Public Health
- M.A. – M.P.A. with the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs of Syracuse University
Demographics of SAIS Students
(Washington, D.C. Campus)

Average Age: 26
International Students (non-U.S. residents): 38%
Countries Represented: 70+
Average Prior Work Experience: 2.6 years

An International Perspective

► SAIS has more than 16,000 alumni all around the world.

► SAIS is a dynamic, global graduate school with three locations: Washington, D.C., Bologna, Italy and Nanjing, China.

► The Washington, D.C., campus has approximately 600 students who are eager to experience the advantages of life at the center of world politics.

► Approximately 200 students attend the SAIS Bologna Center, where students study international relations in a European setting.

► Approximately 180 students attend the Hopkins-Nanjing Center for Chinese and American Studies where we offer the first joint-degree program of its kind in China.

► SAIS students hail from all parts of the globe. This diversity creates a stimulating environment where an open exchange of ideas is encouraged.
Employment and Compensation Trends

Class of 2012 Employment Statistics
This data reflects employment statistics based on results of a survey of SAIS M.A. students who graduated between December 2011 and August 2012.

Employment Location
SAIS graduates are employed all over the world. While the majority of 2012 SAIS graduates found employment in the United States, 21 percent are working internationally in Europe, Asia, Latin America, Africa, and the Middle East.

Compensation Trends
The salary level of SAIS graduates varies considerably, depending on geographic location, employment sector and functional area within the sector. For the Master of Arts graduates of 2012 (non-dual degree), median full-time salaries for each sector were as follows:

- Private: $63,000
- Public: $61,000
- Multilateral: $52,000
- Nonprofit: $50,000

The above figures do not include the additional salary benefits of SAIS graduates employed in the multilateral sector where income is often tax-free. Nor does it include signing bonuses or end-of-year bonuses which can be a significant part of private sector salaries.
Sector Statistics and Employers: The Private Sector

The largest number of SAIS graduates, 47%, entered the private sector and many of those went to work in the consulting field in areas such as communications, defense & intelligence, international development, political risk, as well as strategic management consulting.

On-Campus Recruitment Opportunities at SAIS

Career Services at SAIS is committed to helping organizations recruit first-rate talent for internships and full-time employment. Our on-campus recruiting program allows employers to post an open position, collect resumes and select candidates to interview on one or multiple SAIS campuses. We offer a variety of other resources to employers as outlined on the following pages.

On-Campus Opportunities

EMPLOYER PRESENTATIONS Employer presentations are an effective way to provide students with an overview of your organization, while building brand awareness on campus. Presentations can be either formal or informal and often range from auditorium style engagements complete with technical support to informal “brown-bag” lunches with smaller groups of students. Our office can also arrange for your event to be catered. Please contact Career Services to schedule an employer presentation.

CAREER CLUBS SAIS students are actively involved in a variety of sector-specific career clubs, including: Careers in Development, Careers in Diplomacy, Consulting, Defense & Intelligence, Energy & Environment, Gender & Development, Global Security & Conflict Management, Global Women in Leadership, International Finance, International Organizations, International Trade, Net Impact and Toastmasters. Employers are often invited to work with the clubs on their various events, allowing employers an opportunity to target and network with select groups of students.

Other Opportunities to Engage with Students

EMPLOYER SITE VISITS For employers in the Washington, D.C., area, we can easily arrange to bring a group of SAIS students to your site for a presentation by your human resources staff or by SAIS alumni employed at your organization. Students are always eager to learn about internship and hiring needs of area organizations.

CAREER TREKS Career Services organizes a number of career treks for students each year to cities such as New York, London, Brussels, Geneva, Hong Kong and Beijing. Past career treks have been... organized to San Francisco, Houston and Shanghai. In New York, career treks have involved site visits to organizations such as the Council on Foreign Relations, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, Goldman Sachs, Human Rights Watch, the United Nations and others. Career treks provide employers with the opportunity to network with students who are interested in learning about future employment opportunities. If your organization is interested in hosting an event during a SAIS career trek, please contact our office.

VIDEO CONFERENCING For employers who want to interview students without incurring travel costs, Career Services can facilitate video interviewing. Please contact Janet Burrowes, Associate Director for Employer Relations, JBurrowes@jhu.edu or 202.663.7797 for more information.

Convenient Ways to Recruit at SAIS

JOB & INTERNSHIP POSTINGS Employers are welcome to advertise open positions on SAISWorks, a free, online job posting and internship resource for SAIS students which allows them to respond directly to the posting organization. Positions reach our current students and experienced alumni around the globe and remain posted for 30 days unless otherwise advised. SAISWorks also maintains employer profiles and event listings.

RÉSUMÉ COLLECTIONS In addition to posting an opportunity, Career Services can prepare customized books of cover letters and résumés for your consideration from qualified candidates who express specific interest in your job or internship posting. These books can be put into PDF format and e-mailed to you on your requested timetable. For more information about résumé collections, please contact Janet Burrowes, Associate Director for Employer Relations, JBurrowes@jhu.edu or 202.663.7797.

ONLINE SERVICES SAISWorks is a comprehensive database management system allowing you to:

- Post all job and internship positions at no cost
- Register for SAIS job and internship career fairs
- Request on-campus interview dates
- Register to participate in an employer presentation

To access these services, employers need to have a password for SAISWorks. To obtain a password, please contact Janet Burrowes, Associate Director for Employer Relations, JBurrowes@jhu.edu or 202.663.7797.
