"Left-Wing Authoritarianism"

Dan Slater
University of Michigan

Tuesday, April 30, 2019
12:15 – 1:45 PM

Johns Hopkins University SAIS
BOB Building, Room 736
1717 Massachusetts Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20036

Dan Slater is Ronald and Eileen Weiser Professor of Emerging Democracies and the Director of Weiser Center for Emerging Democracies at the University of Michigan. He specializes in the politics and history of enduring dictatorships and emerging democracies, with a regional focus on Southeast Asia. His book, entitled Ordering Power: Contentious Politics and Authoritarian Leviathans in Southeast Asia, was published in the Cambridge Studies in Comparative Politics series in 2010. He is also a co-editor of Southeast Asia in Political Science: Theory, Region, and Qualitative Analysis (Stanford University Press, 2008). His published articles can be found in disciplinary journals such as the American Journal of Political Science, American Journal of Sociology, Comparative Politics, Comparative Political Studies, International Organization, Perspectives on Politics, Studies in Comparative International Development, and World Politics, as well as Asia-oriented journals. Before commencing his doctoral studies at Emory he received a B.A. from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, an M.A. from the Jackson School of International Studies at the University of Washington, and spent ten months as a Fulbright scholar in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. Beyond Southeast Asia, he has done international consulting work on challenges related to democratization and demilitarization in cases such as Ethiopia, Fiji, and Pakistan.