“The System Worked: Global Economic Governance During the Great Recession”

Daniel Drezner

Tufts University, Fletcher School

Introduction by Dean Vali Nasr & moderated by Prof. Matthias Matthijs (SAIS)

Thursday, October 10, 2013
4:30 – 6:00 PM

Reception for audience and speaker to follow after the lecture.

Johns Hopkins University – SAIS
Rome Auditorium (1st floor)
1619 Massachusetts Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20036

Daniel Drezner is Professor of International Politics at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University, a nonresident senior fellow at the Brookings Institution, and a contributing editor at Foreign Policy. Prior to Fletcher, he was an assistant professor of political science at the University of Colorado at Boulder, and then at the University of Chicago from 1999 to 2006. Drezner is the author of All Politics is Global: Explaining International Regulatory Regimes (Princeton University Press, 2007), U.S. Trade Strategy (Council on Foreign Relations, 2006), and The Sanctions Paradox (Cambridge University Press, 1999). His latest book, Theories of International Politics and Zombies (Princeton University Press, 2011), explores the myriad predictions of different theories of world politics and foreign policy in case the dead should rise from the grave and feast upon the living. This talk is based on his new book.

RSVP: sais_schwartz@jhu.edu